14. Noëlle McAfee gave a report from the Ad-Hoc Committee on SPEP Governance.
15. In compliance with the Society’s bylaws, Anthony Steinbock read aloud two proposals put forward by the Executive Committee to be voted on by the membership.
 - a. Proposal for Voting on Proposals, Resolutions, and Motions/Quorum

All items to be voted on at the business meeting must be distributed to the SPEP membership no less than one month before the date of the business meeting. Since the Executive Committee [EC] sets the agenda for the business meeting, anyone wishing to introduce an agenda item is required to send that item to the Co-Directors no less than two months before the date of the business meeting. The EC will then distribute an agenda for the business meeting, including any proposals or motions to be voted on by the membership, to the membership by email. These items will also be made available on the SPEP website as well as at the registration desk.

We make this proposal so that all members will know in advance what is going to be discussed at the upcoming business meeting, and will therefore have the opportunity to make arrangements to be there for the discussion and vote. On this proposal, new business could, as always, still come up from the floor, but it could not be voted on until the next year’s business meeting. We want to emphasize that this proposal is intended to apply only to voting for proposals, resolutions, and motions, not to our voting procedures for new members of the EC or Co-Directors.

After discussion from the floor, the proposal passed by a 2/3 majority.

b. Quorum

The quorum necessary for voting on proposals, resolutions, and motions shall be equivalent to 10% of dues paying members at the time that the agenda is published. (For example, this past year that would have set the quorum at 71 people.) Information about the number necessary to constitute a quorum for the upcoming business meeting would be provided to the membership by the Secretary-Treasurer at the time that the agenda is circulated via email and posted to the website.

We make this proposal because currently, what constitutes a quorum at the business meeting is too vague (namely, all those who are present).

After discussion from the floor, the proposal passed by a 2/3 majority.

16. In compliance with the Society's bylaws, Amy Allen read aloud the Revised Nominating Committee Proposal moved by the Ad Hoc Committee on SPEP Governance to be voted on by the membership.

There shall be a Nominations Committee (NC) of five SPEP members, serving in an advisory capacity to the SPEP Executive Committee (EC), to help identify and nominate two or more candidates for each open at-large position on the EC. The NC will meet with the EC at the annual meeting to discuss the positions that will be coming open the following year, what areas in continental philosophy will need to be reflected, and any diversity matters. Following the annual meeting, the NC will solicit possible nominees from the EC, from all SPEP committees, and from the general membership. By February 1st, the NC will forward a slate of 6-8 possible nominees to the EC. From this slate the EC will choose two (three if we have on-line voting) names, using standard practices of ensuring that the nominees chosen are in good standing and agree to stand for election. If the EC decides not to accept any of the names on the slate forwarded by the NC, it must justify its decision in writing to the NC. For the co-director position, the Executive Committee will continue to choose the nominee for the position.

As is the current practice, members may still make nominations from the floor for co-director or at-large positions, with all the existing caveats about requirements for co-director.

The Nominations Committee will be composed of the most recently retired SPEP co-director (XCC), who will serve as chair, and four other members to be elected by the membership (except for the first year, when they will be appointed by the EC with staggered terms). The XCC will serve until the next SPEP co-director's term ends. The four other members will each serve three-year terms staggered in such a way that at least one and no more than two positions on the NC will be open in any given year. As positions on the NC come open, they will be filled as follows: the EC will nominate no less than four and no more than seven candidates for each position and will encourage nominations from the floor. Nominations for the NC may also be made by a general member directly to the EC. The ballots will include space for write-in candidates. To run, candidates should meet qualifications of being regularly participating members of SPEP in good standing with a PhD. Ideally the pool of candidates for the NC should reflect broad currents in SPEP. Members may serve only one term on the NC. No current or outgoing NC member may be nominated for a position on the EC. As soon as SPEP has the capacity to conduct voting online, the NC should be elected in this manner.

During the discussion, members suggested that no current or outgoing member of the committee can serve on the EC during that year, and that junior faculty be allowed to serve on the Nominations Committee. After further discussion from the floor, the proposal did not pass by a 2/3 majority.

17. Alia Al-Saji read the Proposal for the Implementation of the Iris Marion Young Prize by the Committee on the Status of Women

The Committee on the Status of Women would like to propose the creation of an award entitled the “Iris Marion Young Prize for the Best Paper in Feminist Philosophy.”

The justification for such an award is that Feminist Philosophy is still unevenly recognized by the profession of academic philosophy. Junior scholars in particular may need to provide hiring, review and promotion committees with evidence of the esteem in which this sort of work is taken by their peers, especially in departments in which continental philosophy or philosophical pluralism are not well established. The creation of such a prize would enhance the professional opportunities available to feminist scholars by providing a “measurable” identifier of quality. We believe this kind of gesture is a fitting way to recognize the legacy of Iris Marion Young and her contribution to continental philosophy and to the larger body of American political thought.

The mechanism for such an award would be as follows. Colleagues submitting a paper to SPEP would self-designate as wishing their paper to be considered for the Iris Marion Young Prize. Such papers would be eligible for the regular SPEP prizes (accompanied by a cash award). Once the Executive Committee has completed review of the submissions, those papers that have been accepted onto the program and that self-designate as wishing to be considered for the Iris Marion Young Prize would be forwarded in blinded form to the CSW for review. This review would involve 3-4 days. The Executive Committee will notify the winner of the prize.

Even without a cash award, this prize would be an important mark of professional recognition. As advised by the Executive Committee, the CSW consulted with members of the other committees in developing this proposal and the response was favorable. Future iterations of CSW may seek funding from private donors.

After discussion, the proposal was approved by the membership.

18. On behalf of the Executive Committee, Frederick Evans announced the two prize recipients for the 2012 SPEP Submissions. The Junior Scholar Prize Recipient is Fanny Söderbäck from Siena College for her paper, “Being in the Present: Derrida and Irigaray on the Metaphysics of Presence.” The Graduate Student Prize Recipient is Adam Knowles from The New School for Social Research for his paper, “Towards a Critique of Walten: Heidegger, Derrida and Henological Difference.” The Executive Committee also recognized the members who received the Honorable Mention Prizes for the following papers: Frederic Seyler from DePaul University is the recipient of the Junior Scholar Prize Honorable Mention for his paper, “Is Radical Phenomenology too Radical? Paradoxes of Michel Henry’s Phenomenology of Life.” Robert Trumbull from the University California Santa Cruz, is the co-recipient of the Graduate Student Honorable Mention for his paper: “Autoimmunity, Death Drive: Derrida and Freud.” Catherine

Homan of Emory University is the co-recipient of the Graduate Student Honorable Mention for her paper, "The Play of Ethics in Eugen Fink."

19. New Business:

Anthony Steinbock made several announcements on behalf of the Executive Committee:

- a. The twelfth annual SPEP lecture at the Eastern Division APA meeting will be delivered this year by Debra Bergoffen of George Mason University. The title of her paper will be "Antigone After Auschwitz." There will be a response by Tina Chanter of DePaul University and the session will be moderated by Thomas Flynn of Emory University. The session will be held on December 28th from 5:15–7:15 p.m. A reception for all SPEP members and friends of continental philosophy will immediately follow the lecture. The Eastern APA Meeting will be held December 27–30, 2012 at the Marriott Atlanta Marquis in Atlanta, GA.
- b. All presenters may send two electronic copies of their papers to the current Co-Directors, Anthony Steinbock and Amy Allen, by December 1, 2012 if they would like to have their papers considered for publication in the SPEP Supplement of The Journal of Speculative Philosophy. This deadline is final. Final decisions regarding the papers to be included in the volume will be made by January 30, 2013. Annual membership dues to SPEP must be paid by the close of the registration desk Saturday at noon to be considered. Those members who were unable to attend the conference because of the storm will still be able to submit their papers for consideration.
- c. There have been some problems with the proper delivery of the 2011 Philosophy Today SPEP Supplement. An email will be sent to those members who should have received a copy but did not.

New Business and Announcements from the Membership

- a. The Executive Committee has been developing a SPEP Handbook on policies and procedures. This is an ongoing process that should be completed within the year.
- b. Ed Casey called upon the membership hereby to express strong support for Linda Martín Alcoff upon her becoming the incoming president of the APA Eastern Division. The membership expressed its support by acclamation.
- c. Several members made announcements from the floor.

The meeting was adjourned at 7:25 p.m.

Levinas's Philosophy of Time

Gift, Responsibility, Diachrony, Hope

Eric Severson

Over the course of six decades, Levinas developed a radical understanding of time. In a definitive break from Heidegger's analysis of temporality, Levinas notes time as a feature of the self's encounter with the face, and it is this understanding of time that makes possible his radical claim that ethics is first philosophy.

The Intersubjectivity of Time

Levinas and Infinite Responsibility

Yael Lin

In an exhaustive look at Levinas's primary texts, both philosophical writings and writings on Judaism, Lin brings together Levinas's various perspectives on time. Her study concludes that we can, indeed, extract a coherent conception of time from his thought, thus elucidating Levinas's original claim that time is constituted via social relationships.

Transversal Rationality and Intercultural Texts

Essays in Phenomenology and Comparative Philosophy

"(A)n astonishing collection of essays spanning over forty years of sustained and developed reflection on topics in phenomenological, comparative, and environmental thought. The author's erudition is dazzling. The essays are original, far-reaching, and at times visionary."—Center for Advanced Research in Phenomenology

The Memory of Place

A Phenomenology of the Uncanny

"(A) highly original contribution to the growing interdisciplinary, phenomenological informed, literature examining the nature of place. However, while drawing on phenomenology, this is by no means standard phenomenologically-informed fare. The terrain covered and position arrived at is far weirder and unsettled." —Emotion, Space and Society

Nature's Suit

Husserl's Phenomenological Philosophy of the Physical Sciences

Drawing upon Husserl's published works and unpublished manuscripts, Hardy covers the entire breadth of Husserl's reflections on science in a systematic fashion, contextualizing his phenomenological critique to demonstrate that it is compatible with the theoretical dimensions of contemporary science.

From Mastery to Mystery

A Phenomenological Foundation for an Environmental Ethic

Informed by current debates in environmental philosophy, Bannon critiques the conception of nature as "substance" and questions the most basic presupposition that most environmentalists accept: that nature is in need of preservation. An original and provocative contribution to the burgeoning field of ecophenomenology.
