Seattle University was especially thanked for all of the financial support it provided for this meeting. In addition, the financial contributions of Pacific Lutheran University, Washington University, Whitman College, and the Society for the Advancement of American Philosophy also were acknowledged and appreciation expressed.

c) Dorothea Olkowski introduced Robert Stone who spoke in memory of Eléonor Kuykendall, a long time member of SPEP, who passed away this year.

d) Peg Simons, of the Committee on the Status of Women, thanked the Executive Committee for its efforts to involve women in the annual program. She announced that, as a follow-up to last year's open forum on sexual harassment, the CSW was sponsoring a get-together that evening for all of the women of the Society. In addition, a plenary session on the issue of sexual harassment is being proposed for next year's program. Simons indicated that the CSW welcomed input regarding issues or topics that the membership would like to have addressed.

Peg Simons announced that Linda Alcott is completing her three year term this year. Kelly Oliver, University of Texas at Austin, was nominated by the CSW and elected by the membership to fill that position.

e) Marya Bower presented the following statistical information: The Executive Committee received 140 single papers and 106 papers included in panels, for a total of 246 papers for consideration. The Executive Committee accepted a total of 98 papers (from both the single papers and panel submissions). Of these, 29 were by women. This represents 29.59% of accepted submissions and 33.72% of the papers submitted by women. There are 202 participants on the program; of these 68 are women.

There are approximately 350 people attending the meeting.

f) Marya Bower presented the budget and treasury report. The opening balance as of March 14, 1994 was $6,832.56. We have had income of $9,937.00, for a total of $16,769.56. The expenses through August 31, 1994 have been $9,219.59. This leaves a balance of $7,549.97. She noted that SPEP expects to receive income of approximately $6,500.00 from various institutions within the near future in continued support of the 1994 meeting.

g) John Caputo invited Peg Birmingham of DePaul University to give a summary of the arrangements for the 1995 meeting. He also announced that SPEP has received a proposal for the 1996 meeting from Georgetown University. Frank Ambrosio, speaking on behalf of Georgetown, issued an invitation to SPEP for the 1996 meeting and gave a summary of the arrangements. The invitation from Georgetown was accepted by the membership, with thanks.

h) On behalf of the Executive Committee and the Society, John Caputo expressed appreciation to Merold Westphal who is completing a three year term on the Executive Committee. Merold was unable to be at the annual meeting this year, because he is in Pasadena at an APA national board meeting.

i) Bernard Flynn conducted the elections for the open at-large position on the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee nominated David Rasmussen and James Marsh. No nominations were presented from the floor. David Rasmussen was elected to the position.

j) John Caputo announced that a special arrangement has been made with State University of New York Press that will enable the membership to buy SPEP volumes at a discount of 25%. This discount will only be available to the dues-paying members of the Society. A special purchase form will go out to the membership with the dues notice.

4. NEW BUSINESS:

a) Marya Bower announced that SPEP was attempting to purchase a laptop computer. She invited charitable contributions from the membership for this purpose. SPEP also will be exploring the possibility of obtaining a grant for this purpose. She invited members to contact her if they wished to make contributions or had suggestions for grant applications.

b) Simon Critchley from the British Society for Phenomenology announced that a conference on the theme of "Philosophy and Psychoanalysis" would be held March 30 - April 1, 1995 at Oxford. He invited any of the members interested in attending the meeting or joining the Society to contact him. He also announced the inauguration of a new journal devoted to cross-discipline work entitled the European Journal of Philosophy.

c) Debra Bergoffen presented a recommendation from the Executive Committee that SPEP begin to charge a registration fee at its annual meeting. The Executive Committee recommended the following fee schedule:

Students who are members:	no fee
Students who are not members:	$5.00 (this also counts as their membership fee)
Full members:	$10.00
Non-members who are not students:	$15.00

A motion was made and seconded to accept this recommendation. After some discussion a vote was taken and the motion was carried.

d) On behalf of the Executive Committee Debra Bergoffen asked members to consider whether the Society should continue its practice of nominating two people for each at-large seat on the Executive Committee. The ensuing discussion made it clear that the membership desired to continue the current practice.

e) Debra Bergoffen presented the following recommendation from the Executive Committee: in order to provide a more equitable blind review, abstracts will no longer be accepted as submissions for the annual meeting. After extensive discussion, the recommendation was reformulated in two motions. A first motion was made and seconded that the Call for Papers should specify that abstracts will no longer be accepted for single paper submissions. A vote was taken and the motion carried. A second motion was made and seconded that abstracts (length to be determined by the Executive Committee) continue to be accepted for panel proposals. A vote was taken and this motion carried.

f) The question of whether there should be more invited papers on the program was presented by Debra Bergoffen for discussion. The Executive Committee asked that the membership consider having two additional panels earmarked for invited speakers. It was noted that there are generally 120 slots open on the program. Approximately 27 of these slots are spoken for (Executive Committee panels, Scholar's Sessions, and Husserliana) in any given year. This leaves 93 open slots for blind reviewed papers. If we constructed two additional panels a year, a total of 6 papers, there would still be approximately 87 slots open for blind reviewed papers. A lively discussion ensued and the Executive Committee pledged to consider the feedback that it received.

g) David Pellauer suggested that SPEP play a more active role in the placement of continentalists, given the current state of the job market. Ensuing discussion indicated that members approved of this idea. He was asked to pursue the matter further.

5. The meeting was adjourned at 7:30 p.m.
